Golf Tournament consists of separate Men's and Women's Tournaments run simultaneously on the same days with a shotgun scramble format. Teams select the best shot and all team members hit the next shot from that position. The process is repeated until the ball is holed out. Teams are selected based on the players USGA golf handicap index number (GHIN). All player's handicaps are ranked from lowest to highest.

The lowest 25% of the players will be A players, the next 25% B players, the next 25% C players, and the remainder D players. The teams change each day with the B, C and D players moving up or down one to five places so that no one plays with the same player more than one time. The pairings are done on a spreadsheet that automatically determines the different pairings for each day.
